

THE WILLIAM HOGARTH TRUST

REGISTERED CHARITY 1092251

The William Hogarth Trust has been set up to educate and inform people about the life, work and interests of William Hogarth (1697-1764), the English painter and engraver. It has grown out of the committee which raised funds for the millennium statue of Hogarth which now stands in Chiswick High Road. The new trust will complete the fund-raising for the statue, provide support for the Hogarth's House museum, develop educational projects for schools, colleges and other groups and work with other bodies which hold material relating to Hogarth. A particular opportunity for celebrating the artist arises in 2004, the centenary of Hogarth's House opening as a public museum.

If you wish to support the work of the William Hogarth Trust with a donation, please also complete this form which will enable it to reclaim the tax paid on that sum under the Gift Aid Scheme. Full details are provided below. Please write clearly, preferably in capital letters.
